How to read this

Every frame carries a VIDEO-ABSOLUTE time -- seconds from the start of the video at the URL above, NOT seconds from the start of the bout -- printed as text directly above it. Those times run from 4:19:34 to 4:29:14.

Return every timestamp in that same video-absolute clock. If the bout starts partway into the video, say where it starts as a separate field -- do not rebase the event times to it. A bout-relative time reported as an absolute one places the whole fight in a different part of the broadcast, and the result looks plausible while being wrong.

THE CAPTION TEXT BESIDE EACH FRAME IS A GUIDE, NOT GROUND TRUTH. It is an auto-caption of live commentary: the commentator misnames athletes, talks about one bout while another is on screen, anticipates and speculates, and the text lags the picture. When the caption and the frame disagree, THE FRAME WINS. Use the caption to orient where to look and to break a tie on a label -- never to record an event you did not see in the frame itself.

For each event you can see, give:

<code>ts</code>	integer seconds, video-absolute
<code>label</code>	a technique name, taken verbatim from the label list
<code>actor</code>	which competitor did it, by name
<code>successful</code>	true if it landed, false if attempted and stopped
<code>type</code>	one of: control, submission, guard, takedown, pass, transition, sweep, escape
<code>points</code>	points the scoreboard awarded for THIS action; omit if you cannot read it

Points are the one thing the scoreboard is authoritative for, and reading footage is the first time they are visible at all -- a transcript only ever carried what a commentator said aloud. So: report `points` only when you can actually read the number change on the scoreboard between frames, attribute it to the action that caused it, and OMIT the field otherwise. Never write 0 to mean 'I could not tell' -- an action that scored nothing and an action nobody could score are different facts, and only an absent field holds the second. If the score jumps and you cannot see which action earned it, say so in `note` on the nearest event rather than guessing an attribution.

Also return, once per bout: the two competitors' names, the event/card name, the year, who won and how, `bout_start_seconds` -- the video-absolute second the bout begins -- and `final_score` as "a-b" if the scoreboard shows one. If this video contains more than one bout, return one such object per bout.

LABELS ARE A CLOSED VOCABULARY. Take each `label` verbatim from `node_library.json`, which lists every technique the library knows, most-used first. A label is normalised into a node key, and that key IS the node in every graph it reaches -- so a spelling the library does not have does not fail, it mints a second node, and one technique arrives split in two with no error anywhere. Where two listed names could both fit, take the one printed higher: that ordering is how often the corpus already uses it. If a frame genuinely shows something the list does not cover, use your own words and flag it as `new_label: true` rather than bending it into the nearest listed name.

NOT EVERY FRAME IS LIVE ACTION. A broadcast cuts to slow-motion replays, usually right after a finish or a scoring exchange, and a replay looks exactly like the thing it replays. Read one as new action and the same event is recorded twice, seconds apart, which downstream reads as a repeated technique rather than one shown twice. Tells: a graphics bug or logo appears, the clock stops or disappears, the camera angle changes, the action repeats something you already saw. Skip those frames rather than logging them, and say in the note which range you treated as replay.

AND NOT EVERY FRAME IS THIS BOUT. A broadcast cuts away -- to another mat, to a different match's scorecard, to a crowd shot or an ad -- and it may show two bouts in sequence with a gap between rounds. A reader found exactly that in this batch: a scorecard from an unrelated match sitting in the middle of the sampled frames. Events read off a cutaway land on the wrong athletes entirely, which is worse than missing them. Before logging any event, confirm the frame shows the two competitors you identified, and say in the note which ranges you excluded as not-this-bout.

THE SCOREBOARD'S NAME ORDER IS NOT A MAT POSITION. A lower-third graphic puts one name left and one right by broadcast convention; which competitor stands where on the mat is unrelated and changes shot to shot. Binding a name to a body through that order is the single highest-cost error available here, because `actor` is on every event -- get it backwards and the whole answer inverts at once, while still looking internally consistent. Bind identity to something carried ON the athlete instead: a name printed on the back of the rashguard, kit colour, sleeve length, an ankle band, hair. Then check that discriminator against a frame where the scoreboard and the bodies are visible together, and say in `identity_verified_by` which frame did it.

REPORT ONLY WHAT YOU ARE CONFIDENT OF -- but report uncertainty by getting COARSER, not by staying silent and not by guessing. If the frames show that something happened and you cannot tell exactly which technique it was, use the generic label the library already carries -- `Guard Pass` rather than a named pass, `Takedown` rather than a named entry, `Submission` rather than a named finish, and likewise `Sweep`, `Escape`, `Guard`. A generic label is the honest answer at the resolution these frames give you; a specific one you inferred is a claim about a technique nobody saw, and once it is in the athlete's graph nothing downstream can tell it from an observed one.

This matters most across the sampling gap. At one frame every 20s a technique can start and finish between two samples, leaving only its result visible -- a competitor who was on top now now underneath, a grip that is now a finish. Recording that result generically is correct. Naming the entry you did not see is not, however obvious it feels. The same rule covers `actor`: if you cannot tell which competitor did it, say so in `note` rather than picking one, because a right technique on the wrong athlete is two errors.

The result line at the top, when there is one, comes from the athlete's BJJ Heroes record. It is there so you can tell the two competitors apart and know the bout ended -- it is NOT evidence of anything you cannot see. Do not report a finish, a technique or a score because that line names it: an armbar listed as the method and an armbar visible in the frames are two different claims, and only the second belongs in your answer.

Only report what a frame actually shows. The scoreboard settles POINTS and nothing else: a technique you infer from a score change but never see is worth less than an omission, because a wrong label propagates into the athlete's graph and their rating and nothing downstream can tell it from an observed one. An omission is recoverable; an invented event is not.

4:19:34 (15574s)

Yeah, it seems like that can change the story of a fight. And that's why I love to do it. And it seems like Jonathan's Gracie is pushing up a little bit of pace there to go for the legs, but Habin is defending pretty well. 40 seconds. You seem to to do to uh to do a pretty good job alternating the color ties with the foot sweeps. Like what's your strategy there? What you can share with us that that you're doing once you start doing that switching from the color tie to the foot sweeps. You're trying to open up for something else. You're trying to get them tired, to get them confused to see if something opens up. What are you doing when you do that? It's hard for me because uh I'm a brown belt in judo. I'm a black belt in Witcher River and I also do wrestling. So I try to mix up between those three.

4:20:14 (15614s)

And it helps me up a little bit. So I try to go for suit sweeps. I like to go wrestling. I like to go grapple. I like to go freestyle in there. So I I try to combine them, mix it up to make my opponent tired. And sometimes it works. You feel Yeah. We've seen that sometimes it works out pretty well for you. Yeah, you've won a few matches.

Seems like Jonathan is trying to push up the pace and he's going in again for the car ties. But you see his base now is a little lower this lap. Yeah, he's going to get a warranty for this lap. He's going to get a warning for this lap. And overtime, you guys.

4:20:54 (15654s)

Yeah, overtime just started. 3 minutes and 15. In overtime. 10 seconds in. Now we have eight minutes into the match. We have four more minutes. Jonathan seems like he's a little bit tired. I don't know. And Habin seems a little more composed, but Jonathan's attacking a little more pressure. Yeah. So, I don't know. Maybe just a strategy. 3 minute 30.

4:21:14 (15674s)

I mean, we have we have some fighters that uh they seem to be tired and they keep attacking even though they're tired. And we remember whenever we talk about that, we remember the great Leandro Lo who uh would look tired in the second minute of the fight for eight more minutes.

4:21:34 (15694s)

Was about to say that name. That guy was a master in that. You thought he was tired and then he would come back and crush you. Seems like the majority of the the crowd is by Hab's side. Yeah. Three minutes into the match to finish it.

4:21:54 (15714s)

And both of them guys are still on the gong. Gracie right there. Hearing the crowd hearing the crowd hear scream. Oh, he gets the take now. Almost.

4:22:14 (15734s)

That's going to count as an action. Hearing some people here in the crowd to say it's left ahead. It's left ahead. He got the guine but he's able to escape. That's the problem. When he starts getting very slippery, the head starts escape a lot. It's hard to secure submission when you're so slippery. Both of them have no shorts on.

4:22:34 (15754s)

Yep. And then we have 2 minutes and 20 seconds. We'll see if we're going to have a submission or if it's going to point our decision. They're going to throw everything at each other and they might not go to Vegas. They're going to throw everything but the kitchen single at each other [Applause] and the crowd is going crazy for Habim.

4:22:54 (15774s)

And that's the thing, that's the thing with living in the US or living abroad, just living outside of the country is that I mean uh he's not from Salo, the city, but he's from the state of Salo and a lot of people come to see him and support him. His teammates, a lot of friends, a lot of people that live in town, live around with since he's been living in his for so long. Some people might not even know him.

4:23:14 (15794s)

Yeah. And it's been 1 minute 30. It seems like Kab wants to push up the pace, but also Jonathan doesn't let it free. He's coming up. Both guys still pushing. Jonath Yeah, as I said, right now they're playing more of that Greco style, more on top situation. He goes for a rear wrist lock for a wrist lock. Look at that. Yeah, that's I told you they're gonna start throwing crazy things at each other. Sema wrist and noi said it's pretty crazy. I'm not gonna lie. Like it. Can you imagine if he hits that? That would have been crazy.

4:23:54 (15834s)

How did you get How did you get your spot at ADC in Vegas? Wrist lock. 50. So gangster. That would have been very cool. 50 seconds. Now they're going to start going like crazy. We're under a minute left, everybody. ADC second trials in Brazil 77 kilo spot right now from Carans and

4:24:14 (15854s)

Donovan racing from Andre Kasan is going crazy there on the side he's standing up and screaming like crazy for habino to go to ADC both of them want it very much the coach and athlete crazy

4:24:34 (15874s)

28 seconds they got to they got to go for it right now if they want to make sure that they win. They got to make sure that they score a point or they take an action. They got to show they won it. 15 seconds to go to Vegas under 77 kilos.

4:24:54 (15894s)

10 5 seconds on going right now. And then one of those guys going to Vegas team over Arena one. It's decided right now. Raise your hands. Both fans raise their hands shows that he was a little bit tired as the crowd to start to keep chanting and screaming. Bring it up the show. So it seems like they have a decision or not. Bring it up the show. Bring it up the heat. Have a decision. And now for the official winner. Your winner is wins. The crowd invades the match.

4:25:14 (15914s)

4:25:34 (15934s)

They're crowds are on the man. celebrating. This is so cool to watch. Look at these guys. All his teammates. Those guys are going on again will go to Vegas.

4:25:54 (15954s)

Habin got his spot on 77 kilo division. Congratulations. There's more people invading aka going to Vegas in August. Now winning, obviously winning is good and you want to win and you want to accomplish your goals, but winning in winning at home, I think it feels better, doesn't it?

4:26:14 (15974s)

Definitely feels better when you have your teammates, your coaches in there, everybody that you love and a guy say, "Hey, wasn't a black belt back then, but now he's a black belt. Would you say a different fighter, much more seasoned, much more experienced, more mature?" Definitely mature, more experienced. He evolved a lot. I'm pretty sure that both of those athletes are going to bring him the heat to the competition. Fabricio, very good guy playing on top.

4:26:34 (15994s)

K Gabrielle very well known for his leg attacks, leg entanglements. And Fabricio also uh he's coming in off a fantastic victory with an arm bar pretty similar to an arm bar you have hit in the past and he was able to get the submission secured submission so fast against Lip Mashado and now he is in the final against Kawwan who he has uh defeated in the past but I would say this is a different fight. Right. Definitely both those fighters are coming up and try to get their ticket against ADCC. Uh 66 kill has been pretty stacked and they were able to punch their way into the final.

4:27:14 (16034s)

Um I feel like I'm not going to lie, I'm a little nervous for those of them. You get a little emotional watching those guys going at it against each other. Pretty much. I'm not going to lie. When there is a teammate competing, I feel a little more nervous than I actually do when I'm competing. Yeah. the fact that they have history and in the past Fabricio came up on top.

You mentioned that these guys are very very competitive. How much does that factors history play into Kawwan's mind would you say? I'm not going to lie. Kawwan's uh from an people from an are crazy. I'm not going to lie. They It's weird soon as you do that to someone outside. Oh, he goes for the taked down and he takes Fabricio down on the single leg. Fabricio accepts it.

He accepts the take down. Fabricio accepts it and he's playing inverted guard right now to try to trangle that he does didn't try to wrestle. Yeah, that seems weird. Respecting wrestling should play bottom, right? I don't know. I don't think that he was waiting to play bottom, but it seems like Yeah, he accepted a take down.

Seems like Kawan wants to play on the bottom situation and Fisú comes up some top. So, the thing is that Kawan is fine playing bottom, right? Yeah, definitely. Who knows what to do from there? Oh, so just going back now to what my people are crazy about is that you like you try to kill someone in any other place, that person is going to just like let it go. But in my house, it seems like you kill someone on the training, they come back at you even angrier and try to kill you again. So you can't scare man away, right? It's hard. Like you guys don't know what that feels like. Scared even. I don't understand. I try to uh uh you know, smash them little guys in my house and I'm like, "Yeah, he's going to be scared of me now." And then he comes back like angry and tried to kill me and I'm like what?

Worse than before. What happened? Power is real you guys. And then now you see that trap and you guys actually taught a little bit of that system in your seminar here to raise for the years ago, right?

4:29:14 (16154s)

Seems like I would say yeah we did the the Kur system in here. I think we showed a little bit of what we like to do and Fabric was trying to trap the arm of Kawhan there and Kan was maybe trying to get a little bit lag entanglement. Both those guys know their games a little bit, so it's hard to say what is going to come up from there. They've trained a lot of them trained together a lot, not going to lie. A whole lot since young age.
